How Risky is it? The value of the ETF can go down as well as up. You could lose money. One way to gauge risk is to look at how much the ETF's returns change over time. This is called "volatility". In general, ETFs with higher volatility will have returns that change more over time. They typically have a greater chance of losing money and may have a greater chance of higher returns. ETFs with lower volatility tend to have returns that change less over time. They typically have lower returns and may have a lower chance of losing money.	Risk Rating Harvest has rated the volatility of this ETF as low. The rating is based on how much the ETF's returns have changed from year to year. It doesn't tell you how volatile the ETF will be in the future. The rating can change over time. An ETF with a low risk rating can still lose money. <table border="1" data-bbox="818 369 1528 453"> <tr> <td style="text-align: center;">Low</td> <td style="text-align: center;">Low to medium</td> <td style="text-align: center;">Medium</td> <td style="text-align: center;">Medium to high</td> <td style="text-align: center;">High</td> </tr> </table> For more information about the risk rating and specific risks that can affect the ETF's returns, see the "Risk Factors" section of the ETF's prospectus. No guarantees ETFs do not have any guarantees. Trading ETFs ETFs hold a basket of investments, like mutual funds, but trade on exchanges like stocks. Here are a few things to keep in mind when trading ETFs: Pricing ETFs have two sets of pricing: market price and net asset value (NAV). Market price <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ETFs are bought and sold on exchanges at the market price. The market price can change throughout the trading day. Factors like supply, demand, and changes in the value of the ETF's investments can affect the market price. You can get price quotes any time during the trading day. Quotes have two parts: bid and ask. The bid is the highest price a buyer is willing to pay if you want to sell your ETF units. The ask is the lowest price a seller is willing to accept if you want to buy ETF units. The difference between the two is called the "bid-ask spread". In general, a smaller bid-ask spread means the ETF is more liquid. That means you are more likely to get the price you expect. 	Net asset value (NAV) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Like mutual funds, ETFs have a NAV. It is calculated after the close of each trading day and reflects the value of an ETF's investments at that point in time. NAV is used to calculate financial information for reporting purposes – like returns shown in this document. Orders There are two main options for placing trades: market orders and limit orders. A market order lets you buy or sell units at the current market price. A limit order lets you set a price at which you are willing to buy or sell units. Timing In general, market prices of ETFs can be more volatile around the start and end of the trading day. Consider using a limit order or placing a trade at another time during the trading day.
Who is this ETF for? Investors who: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> seeking long term capital growth. looking for exposure primarily to investment grade fixed income securities issued by US corporations. want moderate current income. 	A word about tax In general, you'll have to pay income tax on any money you make on an ETF. How much you pay depends on the tax laws where you live and whether or not you hold the ETF in a registered plan such as a Registered Retirement Savings Plan, or a Tax-Free Savings Account. Keep in mind that if you hold your ETF in a non-registered account, distributions from the ETF are included in your taxable income, whether you get them in cash or have them reinvested.

How much does it cost?

This section shows the fees and expenses you could pay to buy, own and sell Class A Units of the ETF. Fees and expenses – including trailing commissions – can vary among ETFs. Higher commissions can influence representatives to recommend one investment over another. Ask about other ETFs and investments that may be suitable for you at a lower cost.

1. Brokerage Commissions

You may have to pay a commission every time you buy and sell Class A Units of the ETF. Commissions may vary by brokerage firm. Some brokerage firms may offer commission-free ETFs or require a minimum purchase amount.

2. ETF expenses

You don't pay these expenses directly. They affect you because they reduce the ETF's returns.

As of June 30, 2020, the Fund's expenses were 0.93% of its value. This equals $9.30 for every $1,000 invested.

Annual rate (as a %
