CORPORATE OVERVIEW

Harvest Portfolios Group Inc. (“Harvest” or the “Manager”) is a Canadian Investment Manager founded in 2009. Harvest is focused on developing investment products that follow three investment criteria.

We (i) endeavor to develop investment products that are clear in their mandate and easy for investors to understand, (ii) strive to be transparent so that our investors can review their financial reports and know exactly what they own and (iii) seek to provide investors with consistent monthly or quarterly income by investing the fund portfolios in well managed companies that have a steady cash flow and dividend-paying history.

INVESTMENT PRODUCT

The Blockchain Technologies ETF (the “Fund”) seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the Harvest Blockchain Technologies Index. The Fund invests in equity securities of issuers exposed, directly or indirectly, to the development and implementation of blockchain and distributed ledger technologies.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Blockchain Technologies ETF

Unitholder letter March 2021

Dear Valued Investor,

Thank you for your patience and persistence in what was an unprecedented year of disruption to human health, global economics and markets. As investors your resolve was truly tested, we have all grown to expect market corrections but to face the first truly global pandemic in 100 years, the ensuing economic fall out, a market correction of 35% in 4 weeks and the polarized divisions in American society leading up to and after the US election showed strength and belief in the longer-term direction of markets.

Throughout all this disruption the US Fed has reinforced their desire to maintain record low interest rates for the next 2 years. These low rates have created a strong floor for stock markets as the alternative risk-free interest rate remains basically at "0". I am of the belief that we are in a bottoming process of what has been a 40-year decline of interest rates which has alternatively led to the great bull market in bonds. This too I believe is in a "topping" process as rising rates will lead to dropping bond prices. This process may take the next couple of years to play out if the Fed holds to its policy; that said, their next move could (down the road) very well be higher.

I am admittedly biased as I have never owned a bond in my investing career; rather I have always leaned towards equity ownership and the long-term growth and value add of great companies run by solid, competent management. As we finish 2020 and roll into 2021 the sentiment is that markets have got ahead of themselves and maybe we are due for a pull back. I would argue here that corrections of 5-10% are commonplace in bull markets and unless we see another Black Swan event like COVID-19, the economy should right itself over the coming 2 to 4 quarters and markets will move ahead as they historically have.

I believe younger investors should always be looking for longer term growth through equities. For those looking at retirement, I was recently interviewed and asked about traditional bond/equity positioning. My thoughts again here are stay more heavily weighted to quality, dividend-paying equities or "Equity Income". People are living longer; rates are low and if they eventually go higher the income will improve at a cost to your capital. Equity markets will move up and down but have averaged approximately 8% per annum (S&P 500 since 1957) which is an excellent rate of return while generating income over what could be 2 to 3 decades of retirement.

Harvest has traditionally focused on large capitalization Equity Income ETFs and this will continue to be our core, but over the last couple of years we have built ETFs focused on long term secular growth trends which include smaller and medium capitalized companies with little to no dividends or option markets for income. Most recently we launched the Harvest Clean Energy ETF (HCLN) and the Harvest Travel & Leisure Index ETF (TRVL), both of which are based on great long-term growth themes. I encourage you to go to our website and find out more about them and their unique prospects.

In conclusion, Harvest will remain true to our long-term equity bias focusing on growth industries and secular growth trends, choosing companies that we feel are best in class and generating attractive income within our Equity Income ETFs.

On behalf of Harvest, I would like to thank you for your continued trust and investment in our products.

Sincerely,

Signed "Michael Kovacs"

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES AND STRATEGY

The Fund seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the Harvest Blockchain Technologies Index (the "Index"). The Fund invests in equity securities of issuers exposed, directly or indirectly, to the development and implementation of blockchain and distributed ledger technologies.

In order to achieve its investment objective and to obtain direct or indirect exposure to the Constituent Securities¹ of the Index, the Fund may hold the Constituent Securities of the Index in approximately the same proportion as they are reflected in that Index or may hold securities of one or more exchange traded funds that replicate the performance of the applicable Index, or a subset of such Index. The Fund will invest in its own portfolio comprised of various securities and instruments which may include, but are not limited to, equity and equity related securities. Equity related securities held by the Fund may include, but are not limited to, convertible debt, income trust units, single issuer equity options, preferred shares and warrants. If market conditions require, in order to preserve capital, the Fund may seek to invest a substantial portion of its assets in cash and cash equivalents.

RISK

The risks associated with investing in the Fund are as described in the prospectus. There were no material changes to the Fund over the year that affected the overall level of risk of the Fund.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

The Fund returned 149.81% for the year ended December 31, 2020 compared to the Index of 147.93%.

The Fund tracks the Harvest Blockchain Technologies Index consisting of two components: The Emerging Blockchain segment and the Large Cap Blockchain segment. The Emerging segment companies benefited from acceleration towards virtual transactions and broader acceptance of cryptocurrencies for payments and/or trading. Cryptocurrencies demand continued to be high on digital safe-haven demand. While the Fund does not invest directly in cryptocurrencies, several of the Emerging Blockchain companies, particularly the segment often referred to as the crypto miners, were positively affected by this move. After falling to the historic lows of 2018, there has been renewed interest in blockchain technologies since March, as the pandemic influenced broad-based adoption and a push towards development has sparked interest in the Emerging Blockchain segment of the Fund. At the same time, the Large Cap Blockchain segment benefited from continued momentum as the technology sector regained its leadership role and was the top-performing sub-sector for the year. The bulk of the performance was contributed in the 2nd half of the year with the fund returning 113.23% during the last six months of 2020.

During the 1st half of the year, the Fund received a digital preferred stock dividend from Overstock.com. The security trades on an alternative trading system affiliated to Overstock however trading in such a security was limited for Canadian investors therefore a nominal value was applied to its trading value to reflect this. The nature of this security and alternative trading system that is blockchain based, reflects the uniqueness of the securities held in the Emerging Blockchain segment of the Index. However, during the 2nd half of the year, an opportunity to trade the security at its trading value became available which benefited the fund significantly resulting in outperformance on the underlying index.

The Index continued to be at stage 1 of the growth progression of the Emerging constituents. There are currently 15 companies in the emerging segment of the fund at combined weight of 55%. The renewed interest and activity in the blockchain space has resulted in more companies emerging in the space and we expected the weighting of the exposure towards the more dedicated Emerging companies would grow to 65% in stage 2 sooner rather than later.

RECENT DEVELOPMENTS

The spread of the coronavirus (“COVID-19”) has caused volatility in the global financial markets and a slowdown in the global economy over the past year and may have a continued adverse impact on the financial performance of the Fund's investments. The extent of the overall impact to financial markets and the economy are highly uncertain and cannot be predicted as they will depend on the duration and renewed spread of the outbreak along with ongoing government restrictions. If the financial markets and/or the overall economy continue to be impacted for an extended period, the Fund's future investment results may be materially adversely affected.

Subsequent to year end during the reconstitution in February 2021, an additional 10 emerging companies were added to the portfolio, bringing the emerging segment to 25 companies. This caused the Index to enter stage 2, with a 65% allocation to the emerging segment at the time the Fund was reconstituted.

Explanatory Notes:

- Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase (decrease) from operations is based on the weighted average number of units outstanding over the reporting period. It is not intended that the Fund's net assets per unit table act as a continuity of opening and closing net assets per unit.
- Net assets, at the commencement of operations on February 2, 2018 was $10.00.
- Distributions, if any, are paid in cash.
- Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) of the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period.
- The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. In 2020 the calculation was modified to include certain transaction costs charged by the custodian. The trading expense ratio in prior periods was not re-stated.
- The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
